TUESDAY, MARCH 7, 1905.

JOHN W. O'HARA, of Peru, has been appointed Consul at Montevideo, Uruguay. The appointment was recommended by Senator Beveridge.

IN THE distribution of federal patronage it has been agreed that Senator Beveridge will continue in charge of the Fourth district and Senator Hemenway will look after the Third.

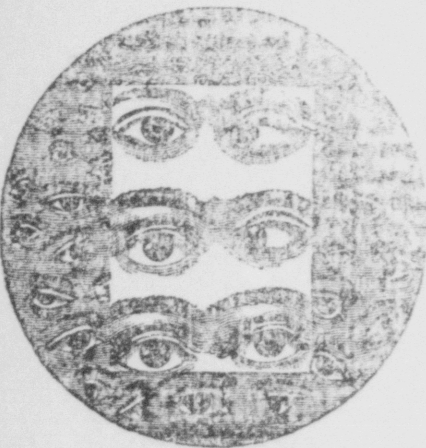

Now that George B. Cortelyou is a member of the President's cabinet, it is probable that Captain Harry S. New of Indiana, will be made the acting chairman of the national committee. A better man to take charge of the party's affairs would be hard to find.

IT HAS been announced from Washington by Senators Beveridge and Hemenway that Elam H. Neal, of Jonesboro, will be revenue collector to succeed A. E. Nowlin, of Lawrenceburg. Joseph B. Keating, district attorney, Henry C. Petit, United States Marshall and A. O. Marsh, pension agent will be re-appointed.

IN COMMENTING upon the legislature just closed the Indianapolis News says: "We are glad to be able to commend it as the best legislature that the state has had for many years. Its record is, it seems to us, one of which we may all be proud. There has been little graft, though there were many opportunities for it, and the lobby has been less offensive and vastly less efficient than for many years. The bills passed have been almost without exception good and many of them are of very great importance." Among the more important bills passed and mentioned by the News are the railroad commission bill, the cities and towns bill, the measure providing for the elevation of railroad tracks, the measure providing for a new insane hospital, a law authorizing the erection of an epileptic village, a bill for the regulation of private banking, the mutual insurance bill, the bill providing for the punishment of the vote buyer and vote seller, the Moore temperance bill, the anti-cigarette bill, and several others of general importance. All in all this legislature takes high rank.

Herschel Reynolds, son of Rev. Frank H. Reynolds, of Pleasant Grove, has returned from serving three years in the army. He was in the heavy artillery service at San Francisco.

BUNCH OF QUAIL.

Scott County Birds Found in Cold Storage in Capital.

About the biggest bunch of quail ever captured at one time in Indiana was captured at Indianapolis last Saturday in the plant of the Indianapolis Cold Storage Company. There were 118 dozen in the bunch and they were run down by some deputy game wardens.

The quail were shipped from Scott county in several packages, some of them being labelled ducks, others shoes, still others baking powder, crackers and other non de plumes.

This is the biggest haul ever made in the state and if the law is enforced to the fullest extent, it will cost the parties violating the game law $43 for each one of these quail making a total of fines and costs for the 118 dozen, $50,888. It is said that the guilty parties are almost frightened out of their wits and contemplate leaving the state to avoid arrest.

Killed by Street Car.

Chester Messing, a ten-year old lad was instantly killed Sunday afternoon at Indianapolis, being run over by a street car. His head, arm and leg were severed from his body. He was so interested in a game of ball he was playing that he failed to notice the street car and jumped directly in front of it.

He had been confined to his home for several weeks by an accident from scalding and was out Sunday for the first time.

His father, Charles Messing, was foreman of the varnishing room of the Seymour Furniture Co for several years. The family lived on High street. About eleven years ago they moved to Aurora. While living there the father worked near Cincinnati and one evening while attempting to board a freight train to return home, he fell under the wheels and was ground to pieces.

The boy's remains were taken to Aurora today to be buried beside his father.

Cabinet Appointments Confirmed. Washington, March 7.—Besides the San Domingan treaty with its accompanying message handed down by the president at the opening of the special session of the senate, the president sent a large number of nominations to the senate, including all of the members of the present cabinet, except Postmaster General Wynne. George B. Cortelyou was nominated for that office. These nominations were confirmed at once and the treaty and message were referred to the committee and daily sessions will be held until some conclusion is reached.

GREAT WORK.

Of Mucu-Tone, King of Catarrh Cures.

"When we first heard of Rexall Mucu-Tone," said Mr. Peter of the W. F. Peter Drug Co. "we were not particularly interested in it. Of course we knew that every Rexall Remedy was made of the best material by the most experienced chemists and pharmacists. We looked upon this product as one of the regular line of remedies, such as we had on our shelves; at the same time we thought it might be a good thing, but were not at all excited over it.

"The formula struck us as being something new and good, so much so that when we first took hold of Mucu-Tone we unhesitatingly recommended it to several chronic sufferers from catarrh—customers of ours. In a few weeks reports began to come in to us, we heard of the prompt cure of case after case of catarrh that stubbornly resisted every other medicine. Then our interest grew, until actually our clerks began to get excited.

"Now you can say for us that we are honestly and earnestly enthusiastic about this splendid remedy, Mucu-Tone, as it is not only a cure for catarrh, but it is the most wonderful tonic that we have ever sold.

"Our customers are beginning to realize this for we find on inquiring of a purchaser what the nature of their trouble is, they say they don't know—they just feel bad, and Mucu-Tone was recommended by a friend who was cured of the same trouble. Just such statements as this are what have occasioned our confidence in Mucu-Tone.

"You know," continued Mr. Peter "we druggists are rather apt to be skeptical of medicines. We doubt the first cure or two—oftentimes confidence cures sickness—but in Mucu-Tone we have realized since the first week we handled it that it was not confidence that was curing, but the medicine, and it is the cures that the medicine has made that is giving it such enormous sales. Our guarantee to refund the cost in every case where Mucu-Tone doesn't give satisfaction has proved a winner. Our percentage of returns is so small we have got now so we don't keep track of them. That shows the real value of Mucu-Tone as a general tonic and rebuilder and a specific for catarrh. We now have a trial size bottle at 50 cents." W. F. Peter Drug Co.

IT IS ALL OVER NOW

The Sixty-Fourth General Assembly of Indiana Has Passed Its History.

A FEELING OF DUTY WELL DONE

It is Thought Legislators Will Be Pardon for Indulging in a Bit of Natural Self-Congratulation in Connection With Their Official Acts.

[Special Correspondence.] Indianapolis, March 7.—Last night at midnight, by constitutional limitation, the Sixty-fourth General Assembly of Indiana became history. The closing hours of the session were marked by levity and song on the part of the members, the customary hurly-burly and good-natured "horse play" which have ever marked the dragging hours before adjournment, scattering to the winds the traditional dignity which is supposed to invest as a mantle the grave and reverend seignors who make up the laws of our great commonwealth. But why not? With the probably conscious feeling of duty well done was there not something in the very atmosphere of the hour to produce a relaxation—even of to-day's dignity? As schoolboys, when the long term is ended, cast their books to the winds and, kicking up their heels, bid care begone, so these faithful public servants threw off restraint and for a season indulged the natural man. After all, men are but boys grown, you know.

Duty Well Done. "The conscious feeling of duty well done" above referred to is not merely a supposititious expression of self-gratulatory opinion on the part of the members who have composed the great majority of this 64th assembly. While most too early to express a full appreciation of the work of this now historic body, it is believed that the common opinion over the state will uphold the not unnatural feeling of those who have thus made legislation that theirs has been, indeed, a duty well done. Of the acts of this apparently conscientious body a further review will be made in this correspondence at a later date.

Strenuous Days for Governor.

These early March days have proven strenuous ones for Governor Hanly. Long days, too, stretching far into the night, for there has been laid upon the burden of his official cares that which has called for the consumption of much midnight oil on the part of Indiana's earnest chief executive. During the latter days of the now remnant legislature both branches sent down bills to the governor literally by the basketful. And this avalanche of legislation has received his most thoughtful consideration. Nor is the task ended. According to the constitution, "No bill shall be presented to the governor within two days next previous to the final adjournment of the general assembly." This is taken to mean that if the governor chooses he may refuse to consider bills passed after the session of last Friday, Sunday not being counted. As a matter of fact, previous governors have received bills up to the last day of the assembly, and the courts have held that they will not go behind the records to prove that a bill was received by the governor after the limitation provided for by the constitution. The constitution has a special provision regarding bills presented to the governor too late for three days' consideration before adjournment. The governor has five days after the adjournment in which to consider such bills. If within that time the governor files the bills with the secretary of state with his objections, the effect is the same as a veto during the session, and the bills will be presented to the next session for re-enactment. Otherwise such bills become laws.

Why Many Bills Died.

That scores of bills would die in eight of the promised land at the close of the legislature was a foregone conclusion as early as the first of last week. When the week opened there were 135 house bills ready for action and 121 senate bills. Of course barely one-half of these bills could be passed before adjournment. They were simply up against natural limitations. Up to the opening of that week 191 house bills had been indefinitely postponed, 105 house bills had been passed, thirty-four senate bills had been passed and fifteen senate bills had been indefinitely postponed. Up to the beginning of the week 431 house bills had been introduced and 170 senate bills had been received from the senate. The record of the senate shows that 175 senate bills had passed and fifty house bills, as compared with 105 house bills passed in the house and thirty-four senate bills. This indicates greater expedition of work on the part of the senate, due partly to the fact that the senate is composed of one-half of the number of men, and is able, under its rules, to work faster. Now that the members are returning to their homes many will be able to explain to their constituents that in the final rush of the session the measures which they had promised to see enacted into law were crushed out.

More Than They Expected.

Now that it is all over most of the members will admit that they are tired and would have been glad had the session been but half its length. On the other hand there are those who would like to stay here the year around.

Can't you eat, sleep or work? Bad liver? Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea makes rich, red blood, gives strength and health. Cures when all others fail. No cure no pay. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. W. F. Peter Drug Co.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

Digests what you eat.

Some of the members, especially those who never before have had legislative experience, are disappointed. This thing of making laws is not what they thought it to be and when they left their homes and saw their constituents what they proposed to do they really thought they would be able to accomplish what they intended. But they found that while they were "big ones at home" they did not cut much figure in the proceedings. Many of them were not able to get bills further than to a committee where the bills were asphyxiated, and the disappointment was great. Other members who knew the ropes got all they asked for and the disappointed ones wondered why certain persons got their measures through and others did not. They are beginning to realize that it is all in the "know how" and if you wish to accomplish anything you have to stand in with those who do things. It is not cause for wonder, therefore, that there are members who are glad it is all over and that they are willing to stay at home so far as being a member of the legislature is concerned.

Teachers Have Hopes.

Teachers over the state who have been anxious for the legislature to do something to help them get more money in the way of salaries are disappointed because of failure of action along this line. State Superintendent Cotton, however, takes a hopeful view of the future, and says the teachers should "cheer up." The question of more pay for teachers, he says, is largely a local one—a question to be solved by each county for itself, rather than one for the legislature to work out. Schools which are benefited by the three-fifths of a cent levy can hereafter see their way to give the teachers more money. In the richer communities the way seems to be open for the school authorities to raise salaries, if they will only avail themselves of it. "The legislature has not passed all of the educational bills which have been offered," Mr. Cotton said, "but altogether the school authorities of the state have no cause for complaint. The bill for the appointment of an assistant state superintendent, which went through the senate, would meet a real need in the educational affairs of Indiana. With the present force in the state superintendent's office it is simply impossible to do any constructive work. The large clerical demands exhaust the time and energy of the superintendent and his assistants and things of larger educational moment must always wait. During the last twenty-five years the work of the department has grown wonderfully and yet in all this time, with the increased duties, only one clerk has been added to the force. The state superintendent should be able to direct the educational forces of the state along the most advanced lines of thought, and his time should not be consumed with clerical details. An assistant superintendent would enable him to do some work that needs to be done at once."

Hogate Not Forgotten.

Julian Hogate, secretary of the senate, is not only one of the best-known newspaper men in the state, but is a prince of good fellows. That his amiable qualities were recognized by the clerks of the senate during the trying days of the session was attested the other day when he was called into the engrossing room and made the recipient of a handsome clock. The clerks of the senate were the donors. Engrossing Clerk Charles R. Lane of Ft. Wayne made the presentation speech. He said a lot of good things about the genial secretary and told of the pleasant times the clerks had enjoyed under his considerate directorship. When Lane had concluded the other clerks told Hogate what a good fellow he is. Hogate succeeded in controlling his emotions long enough to thank "the boys" in a gracious and pleasing way.

A Fitting Remembrance.

One of the last acts of the legislature was a graceful one, holding in remembrance the names of the capitol commissioners. By concurrent resolution the custodian of the statehouse was authorized to place on one of the marble tablets in the rotunda of the statehouse the names of the commissioners under whose direction the statehouse was constructed. It was held that the commissioners had done a great and honest work for the state and were deserving of the recognition proposed by the resolution. The commissioners were Governor James D. Williams, Governor Isaac P. Gray, Governor Albert G. Porter, W. Riley McKee, John Collett, W. B. Seward, John Love, Thomas A. Morris, Isaac G. D. Nelson and Henry Mursinna.

Old Controversy Settled.

The bill providing for the placing of a statue of General Lew Wallace in the capitol at Washington settles a controversy that has run through several legislatures. Each state may have two statues of famous sons in the national Hall of Statuary. Indiana already has the statue of Oliver P. Morton in the hall, and the controversy has been over what other man should be represented there. The Democrats have contended that the memory of Thomas A. Hendricks should be so honored. The bill appropriates $5,000 for the statue.

A Sympathetic Resolution.

In the last days of the session the members were called on to sympathize with Auditor of State Sherrick upon the death of the latter's wife. Mrs. Sherrick died in Florida, whither she had gone seeking betterment of her health in a change of climate. It was a vain hope. The senate adopted resolutions expressing the sympathy of the members for the bereaved state auditor and a committee was appointed to present the resolutions to Mr. Sherrick.

No Invasion of Courts.

Governor Hanly has not been a bit chary in the exercise of his veto power, and his messages in this connection have made some mighty good reading. The clarity of the opinions thus expressed is not surprising to those familiar with the governor's diction, and the logic displayed in his vetoes is the logic learned in the vital school of experience. The governor has in a high degree the quality of getting at the foundation of things. For instance, in vetoing senate bill No. 38, a bill concerning the practice in case of appeals to the supreme and appellate courts, the executive head of the state took the position that there was one provision of the bill that was clearly unconstitutional. In his veto message the governor wrote:

"Section 12 of the measures provides that when a petition for a rehearing is filed in either the appellate or the supreme court, the chief justice or presiding judge shall distribute the case to some judge other than the writer of the original opinion, who shall re-examine such record and report thereon. This section presents a graver question than any heretofore mentioned. It is a direct invasion by the legislature of the rights and powers of another independent and co-ordinate department of the state government. By express constitutional provision the government of this state is divided into three separate departments, independent and co-ordinate—legislative, executive and judicial. The judiciary constitutes an independent department of government—possessing not only equal powers, but exclusive powers with respect to the duties assigned to it. The supreme court is a constitutional tribunal. Its power to prescribe rules regulating the conduct of its business exists, not by virtue of legislation, but by virtue of the inherent right of that tribunal to maintain its dignity and independence and to decide for itself the manner and mode in which it shall discharge its official duties. Into that domain the legislature has no right to go."

The Bribery Charges.

The grand jury, under the instructions of Judge Alford, has taken hold of the bribery investigation with commendable zeal. Prosecuting Attorney Benedict and Attorney General Miller are doing their full duty and a searching investigation is being made. Judge Alford called special attention to Section 2036 of the revised statutes under which, of course, indictments must be returned. That is a broad section. It provides that anyone who "corruptly gives, promises or offers" to any member of the legislature or to any state officer "any money or valuable thing" shall be guilty of the offense described in the section. Here the only question is as to the word "corruptly," and, as Judge Alford shows, the corrupt intent may be inferred. He said: "It is competent to show the corrupt intent of an offer of money and the corrupt intent of the receiving of money by showing at other times and to other members similar offers, requests and demands have been made by the same person or persons now under investigation." Can it be said that anything is ever given by a corporation agent to the members of a state legislature that is not given with a corrupt intent, or, as the statute puts it, "corruptly"? Prosecuting Attorney Benedict says he is entirely satisfied with the $5,000 appropriation by the legislature for the bribery investigation. With this amount he said that there would be sufficient to offer a reward for the capture of ex-Senator Baker and that police superintendents and detectives in all parts of the United States would exert efforts to make the capture if the reward be placed as high as $1,000.

Municipal League Satisfied.

John O. Wilson of Marion, secretary of the Indiana Municipal League, speaking for that organization of the defeat at the house of the proposed extension of the terms of Indiana city officers, said: "The Municipal League of Indiana has accomplished that which it set out to accomplish. At the league's meeting at South Bend it was resolved that the organization make an effort to have enacted a law providing for four-year terms for city officers. This has been done. It was further decided at that time to go about securing certain improvement-law amendments and changes. These have been secured. Nothing was done in the league meeting and nothing was done outside by the league to secure term extension until it was proposed by some gentlemen to cut short the terms of incumbents in city offices. When the move for a cut was started we proposed the term extension, not because we were inclined to be swayed, but in the belief that we should be in a position to hold our own by compromising at the finish. This we have been enabled to do. City officers now holding will serve their full terms, and city officers elected in the future will serve for four years. These are the points we have made our fight for. We are satisfied."

Stealing of the Statutes.

Members of the legislature found that the old practice of senators and representatives carrying home copies of the revised statutes of Indiana was seriously curtailed. When the session opened in January several sets were taken from the state library and distributed among members, who used them in framing new laws. Julian D. Hogate, secretary of the senate, went through committee rooms a few days ago and gathered up several armloads of these books. He also took those found on the desks of members and took them back to the state library to be kept there until the next legislature has use for them.

Believes In Sobriety.

A recent incident illustrates Governor Hanly's belief in and practice of temperance. A friend called to recommend a man for a position within the gift of the Governor. The applicant for the job was not what one would call a drunkard, but he was a drinker of intoxicants and a frequent drinker at that. His claims, his capability, and his party service were emphasized by this mutual friend of the Governor and the applicant. It is reported that the Governor thought a moment and then replied:

"I should like to appoint your friend and I have no doubt as to the merit of his service or of his ability to do the work; if he did his best. But I have noticed that railroads and other large business enterprises have in recent years been ruling against drinking men in their employ. It is already policy, in my judgment, and as long as I am Governor of this state the same policy shall be pursued in its business. I am sorry to disappoint you, but that will have to be my decision."

CITIES AND TOWNS.

Some Features of Government Under New Law.

The new law for the government of all cities and towns in the state has no emergency clause, therefore it will not be in force until after the new laws are published and proclaimed. This will probably be done by the last of May. This is a law of more than usual interest, therefore its provisions should be carefully studied.

All cities and towns in the state will hold their first election under this law on the 7th day of next November. The present officers will serve out the terms for which they were elected, that is until September 1st, 1906. Those chosen next fall will serve three years and four months, and after that the terms of all city and town officers will be four years. The present officers are eligible to succeed themselves, but would be ineligible to succeed themselves again.

The new law confers more power on the mayor than he now has. He will appoint the marshal, city attorney, chief of fire department, civil engineer, street commissioner and some other officers named in the law.

The police judge power exercised by mayors in some cities where they have no city judge is taken away from him by the new statute. This is a good idea, for the chief executive of a city should not also be police judge.

The new law may seem complicated for a while, but it will not seem so when the people thoroughly understand its provisions. There was much need of just such a law as this, providing for more uniform government of cities and towns throughout the state.

The law is doubtless not perfect but it is a long step in the right direction, and if there are defects in it, the next legislature can correct them.

Valuable Improvement.

The Seymour Water Company has installed a new electric appliance which is indeed a valuable improvement. By means of this all the engineer at the pumping station has to do in order to change the valve at the standpipe before putting on direct pressure is to touch a button in the engine room and in an instant everything is ready. Heretofore it has taken a trip to the standpipe to turn the valve.

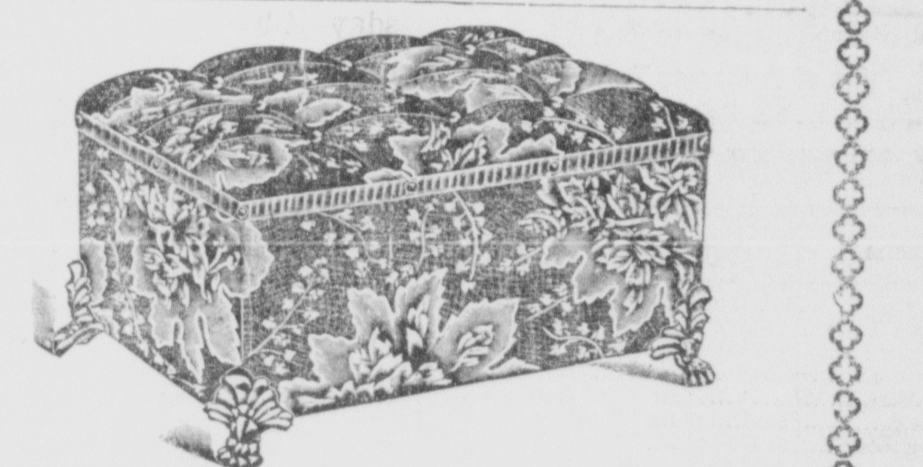

The appliance has been tested and works to perfection. The Water Company is sparing no expense in making their plant as good as the best. Work on their new filtration plant will be begun as soon as the weather will permit and pushed to completion.

A Chicago Alderman Owes His Election to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"I can heartily and conscientiously recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for affections of the throat and lungs," says Hon. John Shenick, 220 So. Peoria street, Chicago. "Two years ago during a political campaign I caught cold after being overheated, which irritated my throat and I was finally compelled to stop, as I could not speak aloud. In my extremity a friend advised me to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I took two doses that afternoon and could not believe my senses when I found the next morning the inflammation had largely subsided. I took several doses that day, kept right on talking through the campaign, and I thank this medicine that I won my seat in the council." This remedy is for sale by C. W. Milhous.

A TRAIL OF BLOOD

Horrible Scenes Witnessed at the Theater of War Near Mukden.

REAL VALLEY OF DEATH

Corpses Strew the Debatable Ground From Which Neither Side Can Remove Its Dead.

Many a Gruesome Evidence of an Enmity That Ceased Only in Death.

Mukden, March 7.—The road southward is crowded as far as the eye can reach by a continuous file of two-wheeled Chinese carts full of Russian wounded, the best testimony of the valor with which the army of the East fighting continuously for a fortnight, has defended every inch of the ground over which it has been compelled by superior numbers to retire. Each cart bears from three to five wounded men, whose exhaustion is almost too utter for them to feel pain. Scarcely a groan or cry is heard—not even the moans of the dying—only the dismal creak of the rude wheels and the thud of the ponies' hoofs are audible. Most of the wounded have their heads covered with Chinese blankets or dirty coats, stuff with coagulated blood, hiding wan and dirty faces distorted with pain, sunken eyes and expanded nostrils. Here and there is seen a cart with two wounded men, between whom is a corpse, which with every jolt pounds against the helpless living comrades of the man on whose face death had sealed the distortion of unbearable agony.

The valley in front of the Russian position has become a valley of death. Corpses strew the debatable ground from which neither side can remove its dead.

Again and again the Japanese charged down the slope and up the hill. Again and again the Russians counter attacked, trying to gain possession of "the hill with the tower." No quarter was asked for or given by either side. The enmity ceased only in death—the wounded with breasts torn open by shrapnel or bayonet, essaying another shot with their last breath.

Here sits a Japanese upon a stone, a moment's pause for rest having stretched him out into eternity.

There lie two foes with bayonets sheathed in each other's breasts. Everywhere corpses—corpses—corpses. For two days the Russians had been concentrating a heavy artillery fire on "the hill with the tower," stopping the sapper works. At 2 o'clock in the morning the Russian skirmishers heard a noise at "the hill with the tower." Creeping forward they discovered that the Japanese were heaping up corpses as defenses. The Russian field batteries immediately opened fire and forced a cessation of the work.

At dawn the Japanese attacked the Russian positions near Oubenepusa. The attackers were scarcely recognizable as valiant Japanese, so mechanically did they move forward and, with undying persistence, attacked only to be thrown back. They repeated this at 10 in the morning after a preparatory artillery bombardment and reached the Russian trenches, where a bayonet fight ensued. At the crucial moment General Aleff, commanding the vanguard, arrived on the scene with two companies and turned the scale against the Japanese.

The general bombardment of the entire Russian line is being continued, the Japanese using very heavy Port Arthur guns (11-inch Howitzers), the largest ever used in field fighting. These are bombarding the Russian positions and the Chinese villages in the Russian lines on both sides of the railroad and two or three miles north of the Shake river, doing great damage, blowing up villages, buildings and earthworks and giving General Kuro-patkin's army a taste of the unpleasant features of the Port Arthur siege. This bombardment is probably the heaviest ever known.

No Nearer a Solution.

San Francisco, March 7.—"We are no nearer a solution of the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Stanford than we were two days ago," said Captain of Detectives Burnett. "Until it has been established that a crime has actually been committed the hands of the local police department will be tied. That means that we have necessarily dropped all work until the reports of the chemists and autopsy surgeons reach us."

Something New for Washington.

Washington, March 7.—Captain Seth Bullock and his cowboys today gave an exhibition of feats characteristic of cowboy life. These included roping and tying-down included, rescue races, and other demonstrations of fancy horsemanship. Capt. Bullock's men have been one of the features of the inauguration, and their appearance here has struck a popular chord.

Mothers Will Meet.

Washington, March 7.—Delegates from mothers' congresses in twenty states of the Union are ordered to attend the triennial national congress of mothers, which opens in Washington, March 10.

NOT A WICKED TRUST

That is What the General Paper Company Says of Itself.

St. Paul, March 7.—Answers have been filed by the defendants in the case of the United States against the General Paper company et al., the case being generally known as that against the paper trust. The General Paper company and its twenty-three co-defendants denies most of the allegations made by the United States. The twenty-three companies and the General company admit, however, that an agreement was entered into in May, 1900, under which the General Paper company was appointed exclusive sales agent for the other mills for a specified period. The contract was to the effect that the General Paper company should use its best efforts to keep the various mills in the agreement supplied with orders at the best reasonably obtained prices.

It is denied, however, that the General Paper company had any authority to arbitrarily dictate the prices at which paper should be sold or restrict the output of any of the mills. It is specifically denied that any power was conferred on the General Paper company which would enable it in any way to be instrumental in restraining interstate trade and commerce. The United States has until the first Monday in April to reply to these answers.

Champion Liniment for Rheumatism.

Chas. Drake, a mail carrier at Chapinville, Conn., says: "Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the champion of all liniments. The past year I was troubled a great deal with rheumatism in my shoulder. After trying several cures the storekeeper here recommended this remedy and it completely cured me." There is no use of anyone suffering from that painful ailment when this liniment can be obtained for a small sum. One application gives prompt relief and its continued use for a short time will produce a permanent cure. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

DISORDER IS FEARED

Interborough Traffic in New York Stopped by Strike.

New York, March 7.—The long-threatened strike of the employees of the Interborough company, operating the subway and the elevated railroads of Manhattan, was determined on at a meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees held in Harlem last night. This action followed the receipt from General Manager Frank Hiedley of the Interborough company of a letter declining to agree to the terms of an amended demand made by the representatives of the men at a conference held with the officials of the company. The strike was put into full operation at 4 a. m.

About 50 employees of the subway and elevated systems are affected by the strike, which ties up all traffic in Manhattan except on the surface trolley lines. The utter impossibility of the multitude of travelers in the upper part of the island reaching their places of business downtown is one of the most serious features of the situation and it is feared will be the cause of much disorder.

If it is a bilious attack take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and a quick cure is certain. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

SIGNED PEACE PACT

Senators Forget Political Differences at Last Moment.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 7.—The Democratic and Republican members of the Indiana state senate met around the festal board, at the Denison hotel last night, to do honor to Lieutenant Governor Miller, the presiding officer. Speaker Cantwell was an invited guest. It is due to the efforts of Senator Hendee, the majority leader, and Senator Milburn, the minority leader, that this peace party was arranged. A statement issued by these two opposing leaders, asking for signatures of senators, pledging the signers' full determination to attend the "spread," was signed by almost all the members of the upper house and a full attendance was the result. For the time party differences were forgotten.

Pine boxes which once contained a bushel or more of soap were in demand by senators and representatives yesterday, and a porter could be seen frequently carrying one of the receptacles along the hall on the second floor of the state house. He would slip into a committee room with it and later the sound of a hammer nailing a lid on the box could be heard. It was the beginning of "get-away day" in the legislature, and the members were having packed the plunder which they intended to ship to their homes. Some of the members packed up everything but the desks and the tilting chairs which they have occupied during the session. But for all the packing up, it was said that there was less plunder within reach this session than in any the legislature has held for many years.

With the chamber almost constantly in an uproar of good humor and rally, the senators paying no more attention to what was going on than was absolutely necessary to inform themselves briefly as how to vote, the senate passed several bills yesterday and refused to pass one or two others. The senate, unlike the house, was up with its work and had time to spare. There was little of seriousness in the whole proceedings, and the spirit of "the latter days" of the session was well in evidence. Even the most bumptious and argumentative of the Democrats subsided into a spirit of mild expostulation, and Republicans and Democrats mingled in fraternal spirit.

A bill introduced by Senator Wood of Tippecanoe, provides for the printing of all the codification commission acts passed by this general assembly, in one book. The acts are to be annotated. The books are to be compiled under the direction of a commissioner, to be appointed by the governor, who shall receive not to exceed $300 a month, and whose work must end by October 15. Not more than 15,000 shall be printed, and they shall all be sold under the direction of the secretary of the senate and of the public printer, at a price to be fixed by the latter.

NO SYSTEM OF GRAFT

Grand Jury Exonerates the Indiana General Assembly.

Indianapolis, March 7.—A partial report from the Marion county grand jury to Judge Alford has been made. The report was a short one and contained no reference to the specific charges of bribery made on the floor of the house of representatives by Ananias Baker against ex-Senator O. A. Baker, but it stated that the investigation showed that there was no system of graft within the general assembly. At the conclusion of the reading of the report Judge Alford addressed the members of the grand jury and said that as the regular session has now begun, the jury could continue to investigate the charges of bribery in the general assembly as long as it was deemed necessary.

Prosecuting Attorney Benedict said that the investigation would continue, but he could not say for how long a time. When asked what would be done, Mr. Benedict said that he supposed the grand jury would continue to do as it had during the special session, to summon and investigate every member of the assembly and others who might be suspected of having any testimony of value. He said that a few representatives had not been able to respond to the summonses which had been sent them, but that this was due to the rush of work in the closing days of the assembly and that they would be heard before they left Indianapolis.

Fight for Supremacy.

Chicago, March 7.—All the trainers, jockeys and horses that have participated in the City Park track meeting at New Orleans were catalogued among the list of "outlaws" by the board of stewards of the Western Jockey club at their monthly meeting here. This action by the stewards means that the fight for supremacy between the Western Jockey club and the new organization controlled by Edward Corrigan, is to be a fight to a finish and in all probability will result in the closing of Chicago racetracks for this season at least.

Costly Fire at Gas City.

Gas City, Ind., March 7.—Fire destroyed the entire Rothhouse block, burning out several business firms and flat apartments. The building which was the finest in the town, had a frontage of 150 feet. The entire block was reduced to ashes, and all the goods of the tenants were destroyed, entailing a loss of more than $100,000.
